CARE AND SUPPORT TO FAMILIES

Help us build stronger families
BETTER TOGETHER.

CARE AND SUPPORT TO FAMILIES

The Department of Social Development provides support, education and preservation services to vulnerable and at-risk families.

This programme and its partners help strengthen families and improve positive parenting skills.

What we do

- Teaching family members how to build a home environment that allows each person to develop in that space;
- Promote functional families and to prevent vulnerability in those households; and
- Support and strengthen family and community initiatives that encourage social cohesion and improve quality of life.

What do we offer?

- Individual, couple and family counselling, marriage preparation, and enrichment and support for families in crisis;
- Linking families to necessary and available support services;
- Parenting and caregiving skills to parents - including teenage parents - in order to improve their ability to provide proper care and support to their children;
- Fatherhood education and training programmes that teaches positive involvement in families and positive male role modelling;
- Facilitate family reunification and reintegration of homeless adults into society, and with their families; and
- Training of service providers in family preservation, parenting and fatherhood.
