

2012 Library week fun!

just one example of the many different displays you could do to highlight this very special week.

The idea behind the display was to not only put up posters ... but to show that we can actually use some of the items while we work. For example, why don't we all wear our peak caps for the week? What we've done, is to use the stickers and the bookmarks to create frames for the plastic bag. We used some balloons to decorate the display area.

We hope that you will all have fun using the promotional material and wish you all a very happy and successful Library Week for 2012!

OLIVIA FORSHAW

Graphic Designer

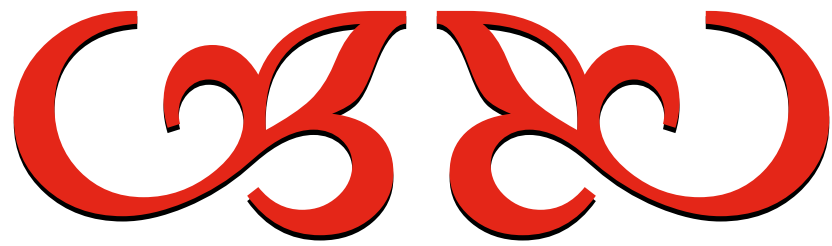

Before we know it, it's 2012 and that time of the year in the Library Service calendar; Library Week! Many librarians are already phoning in and asking what we are planning for Library Week 2012, so here goes!

Library Week 2012 is aimed at our youth. Our posters and promotional material are aimed in the main at encouraging teenagers to use and visit the many public libraries that we have in the Western Cape - be it for recreational or study purposes, local public libraries have something for everyone!

Our display this month focuses on the possible uses of the promotional material coming your way. We have put together

CL

When we help and care for one another, High above, the angels see it too.

Every little act of love and kindness, makes the gentle
angels smile at you

